

Domanda	Risposta 1	Risposta 2	Risposta 3	Risposta 4	Risposta esatta e spiegazione
Hello, Mary! What over here?	You do	Do you do	Are you doing	Will you do	La risposta corretta è la 3. Are you doing è corretto perché la domanda si riferisce ad un'azione che si sta svolgendo adesso sul momento e in questo caso si deve usare il tempo «present continuous» (presente continuo).
Do you know who to Peter's party yesterday?	Did go	Went	Had gone	Will go	La risposta corretta è la 2. Went è corretto perché è retto da «yesterday» (ieri), l'azione si riferisce quindi a un tempo passato e concluso. «Had gone» si usa solo nel caso vi siano due azioni passate in relazione fra loro di cui una precedente, «did go» non è corretto perché è forma interrogativa.
to England often?	Are you travelling	Do you travel	You travel	Would you travel	La risposta corretta è la 2. Do you travel è corretto perché il presente e in questo caso interrogativo con l'ausiliare «to do» indica azione abituale svolta con frequenza. L'avverbio «often» vuol dire «spesso».
You haven't done your homework, ?	Do you	Have you	Did you	Ok	La risposta corretta è la 2. Have you è corretto perché si tratta di «question tag», ossia di una costruzione tipica dell'inglese in cui nella domanda che segue come conferma si ripete l'ausiliare della frase principale al positivo se nella principale è al negativo e al negativo se il verbo è positivo nella principale. «Ok» è colloquiale e si usa prevalentemente in American English.
l like Italy. I usuallyit two or three times a year	Visit	Visited	Will visit	Have visited	La risposta corretta è la 1. Visit è corretto perché il presente semplice si usa per azioni abituali che si compiono di solito, qui l'avverbio «usually» indica la ripetitività di un'azione abituale.
A. Are you sure the answer is correct? B. I think	lt will	So	Yes	That	La risposta corretta è la 2. So è corretto perché è una forma idiomatica. Si usa con i verbi «to think, to promise, to hope» e corrisponde all'italiano: «penso di sì».
This report is the one Jane wrote last year	More complete as	More complete than	Completer than	Most complete	La risposta corretta è la 2. More complete than è corretto perché è un comparativo di maggioranza e non un superlativo relativo (per il quale si usa «the most» oppure il suffisso -est per aggettivi monosillabi), inoltre «complete» essendo un aggettivo formato da più di una sillaba non può aggiungere il suffisso -er per formare il comparativo ma l'avverbio «more».
Her son is getting intelligent every year	always more	intelligent and more	more and more	so	La risposta corretta è la 3. More and more è corretto perché l'italiano «sempre di più» si esprime in inglese con il comparativo ripetuto due volte (per esempio «better and better» per dire «sempre meglio»). Essendo «intelligent» aggettivo composto da più di una sillaba si formerà aggiungendo «more».
Yes, I have taken back the bookit	l have just finished	I'm just finishing	I'm finishing just	I'll finish	La risposta corretta è la 1. I have just finished è corretto perché si usa il «present perfect» per azioni appena compiute. Qui nella frase indica il fatto che il libro è stato riportato perché il soggetto ne ha appena terminato la lettura.
I ran over the dog because unfortunately I it	Didn't saw	Didn't see	Hadn't seen	Haven't seen	La risposta corretta è la 3. Hadn't seen è corretto perché il «past perfect» si usa per due azioni del passato di cui una è avvenuta prima dell'altra. Qui si riferisce al fatto che il soggetto «non lo aveva visto» prima di investirlo. Non c'è contemporaneità fra le due azioni.
My best friend lives in	South Africa	The South Africa	The South of Africa	Southern Africa	La risposta corretta è la 1. South Africa è corretto perché è il nome preciso di uno Stato e non si usa mai l'articolo davanti a un toponimo.
My mother gave her wedding ring before dying	To me	For me	Me	Mine	La risposta corretta è la 3. Me è corretto perché il verbo «to give» segue la seguente costruzione «to give someone something» oppure «to give something to someone». In questa frase l'ordine è il seguente: verbo, soggetto che riceve l'oggetto e oggetto. «Mine» è pronome possessivo e significa «mio».

a	I.		L.	l	L
Sorry, but at the moment on my job, so I can't answer the phone	l concentrate	l'm concentrate	l'm concentrating	l've concentrated	La risposta corretta è la 3. I'm concentrating è corretto perché l'azione si sta svolgendo ora, ossia «mi sto concentrando» ed è «present continuous» (presente continuo) che si usa per azioni in svolgimento.
Please call me when youtime	Will have	Have	Having	Have had	La risposta corretta è la 2. Have è corretto perché nel periodo ipotetico misto di primo tipo quando la frase che pone la condizione è all'imperativo, nella frase dipendente si mette il presente pur riferendosi ad azione futura. «Will» con «when or if» non si usa mai nel periodo ipotetico di primo tipo.
A we take two bottles of wine? B. Oh, thank you	Do	Shall	Will		La risposta corretta è la 2. Shall è corretto perché trattasi di interrogativa con valore futuro e in prima persona plurale. Il futuro si utilizza nelle domande di cortesia quando si fa una richiesta che deve ancora avvenire e non si usa il presente semplice come in italiano. Il presente in inglese si usa solo per azioni abituali. Nelle interrogative future si usa sempre «shall» per la prima persona singolare e plurale.
Plymouth is a city the south coast of Devon in England	At	On	In	Over	La risposta corretta è la 2. On è corretto perché la città si trova «sulla» costa e la preposizione obbligatorio è «on», qui nel significato simile di «lungo» la costa.
My sister used with her toys when she was a baby	Sleep	Have slept	To sleep		La risposta corretta è la 3. To sleep è corretto perché dopo la forma ausiliare «used» nel significato di «una volta, un tempo», si aggiunge sempre l'infinito. La costruzione «soggetto+used to+infinito» indica azioni abituali del passato.
My secretary went to meet me but I lunch at the canteen	Had	Was having	Have	Have had	La risposta corretta è la 2. Was having è corretto perché è un «past continuous» (passato continuo), l'azione è in svolgimento nel passato. Il significato della frase è il seguente: la segretaria venne per incontrarmi ma io stavopranzando e quindi non mi trovò.
a meeting next week. We must inform all the members	We had	We'll have	We're having	We'll have had	La risposta corretta è la 3. We're having è corretto perché per un'azione futura programmata si usa il «present continuous». Il futuro con «will» si usa per previsioni meno certe oppure per decisioni prese sul momento. Qui la decisione è già stata presa ed è programmata per la settimana prossima.
When I telephoned the boss, he on the project	Is working	Worked	Was working		La risposta corretta è la 3. Was working è corretto perché è un «past continuous», l'azione è in svolgimento nel passato. Il significato è il seguente: quando io telefonai al capo, lui in quel momento stava lavorando sul progetto.
A change meaning may occur in any translation	For	Out	ln	Ву	La risposta corretta è la 3. In è corretto perché il sostantivo «change» regge la preposizione «in» oppure «of» nel significato di «cambiamento di qualcosa».
l'm nervous because I an interview	Have never had	Never have	Never had		La risposta corretta è la 1. Have never had è corretto perché il «present perfect» si usa per indicare un'azione della quale non si conosce quando è avvenuta. Qui nella frase il significato è che ora sono nervoso perché non ho mai avuto prima di adesso un colloquio di lavoro.
Jane was worried the exam because she had not studied a lot	About	For	On	In	La risposta corretta è la 1. About è corretto perché l'aggettivo «worried» regge sempre la preposizione «about» nel significato di «essere preoccupato per qualcosa».
I prefer swimming jogging	Over	Than	То		La risposta corretta è la 3. To è corretto perché la costruzione del verbo «to prefer» è «to prefer doing something to doing something else», quando il verbo «prefer» è seguito da verbo al gerundio. Se il verbo che segue «prefer» è all'infinito, allora si usa «than», per esempio «I prefer to swim than jog».
Don't worry, I the contract as soon as possible	Will sign	Am signing	Sign		La risposta corretta è la 1. Will sign è corretto perché si usa il «will» nel periodo ipotetico misto di primo tipo, ossia per un qualcosa che assai probabilmente avverrà nel futuro. «Would» si usa nel periodo ipotetico di secondo tipo in cui la probabilità che qualcosa avvenga è meno certa.

The girl, yesterday, is Peter's daughter	l met	Whom I met		That I met	La risposta corretta è la 2. Whom I met è corretto perché nelle frasi relative incidentali si deve usare sempre il pronome relativo «who/whom». In questo caso si usa «whom» perché è oggetto e non soggetto, il soggetto è «I», ossia sono io che ieri ho incontrato quella ragazza. «Which» si usa solo per oggetti e «that» non si usa mai nelle frasi relative incidentali.
If we hadn't taken a taxi, we the train	Missed	Would miss	Would have missed	Will have missed	La risposta corretta è la 3. Would have missed è corretto perché è un periodo ipotetico di terzo tipo, ossia dell'impossibilità. L'azione non può più essere cambiata perché passata. Qui nella frase il significato è il seguente: se non avessimo preso un taxi, avremmo perso il treno.
If only you me! Everything would be better!	Understand	Will understand	Would understand	Have understood	La risposta corretta è la 3. Would understand è corretto perché con «if only» si deve usare sempre il condizionale presente in circostanze riferite al presente. L'espressione «if only» con il «would» dà enfasi al rammarico, qui indicato anche dal punto esclamativo.
of the rain we went on camping	Despite	Even though	In spite	Instead	La risposta corretta è la 3. In spite è corretto perché si usa con «of» e davanti a un sostantivo. «Despite» non si usa con «of», «even though» si usa solo con frasi complete che contengono il verbo e «instead» è avverbio e ha il significato di «invece, al contrario».
The Berlin Wall in 1961	Built	Has been built	Was built	Had been built	La risposta corretta è la 3. Was built è corretto perché la frase è retta da «1961». Per azioni in cui il riferimento temporale indica una data ben precisa e lontana nel tempo rispetto al presente si usa il «past simple» (passato semplice), il quale è equivalente al passato remoto italiano, tempo usato per eventi storici.
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 1 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the "work from home" coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could encourage the private area to follow 6 The government announced on Wednesday that it would not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7 , known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on January 26. But it scrapped the working from home guidance immediately. «It is expected that office workers returning to the office 9 economic benefits for 10 across the country, with sandwich shops and the 11 sector due to see a dramatic increase in footfall», Barclay said. The 12 comes as many 13 and organisations have started to allow «hybrid working» whereby 14 carry out their 15 from the office and at home at different times of the week.	Country's	Minister's	Government	His	La risposta corretta è la 3. Government è corretto perché «department» in inglese viene usato per l'italiano «ministero», inoltre «Cabinet» vuol dire «Gabinetto», ossia «Consiglio dei Ministri». Il significato qui nel testo è che Steve Barclay in quanto ministro ha ordinato a tutti i dicasteri di seguire quanto successivamente dichiarato.
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 2 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union.	Officers	Citizens	Employees	Servants	La risposta corretta è la 4. Servants è corretto perché «civil servant» vuol dire «impiegato statale» e nel testo Steve Barclay chiede che gli impiegati statali possano tornare al lavoro in presenza dopo l'emergenza del Covid-19.

Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col	Oranges	Mandarins	Apples	Pears	La risposta corretta è la 2. Mandarins è corretto termine corretto corrispondente al punto 3	_				perché in inglese si usa in maniera informale per indicare gli impiegati statali.
Cabinat Office minister Stave Barelov has ardered all					maleare gri impregati statan.
Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union.
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col	Measures	Ideas	Buildings	Groups	La risposta corretta è la 1. Measures è corretto termine corretto corrispondente al punto 4					perché è retto dal verbo «to put in place» che è una forma idiomatica corrispondente all'italiano Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all					«introdurre delle misure».
1 departments to step up efforts to force civil					""" dan'e delle misare".
2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted
this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government
workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic
arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from
one 5 union.
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col	Public	Private	Common use	Public sector	La risposta corretta è la 4. Public sector è corretto termine corretto corrispondente al punto 5					perché si riferisce al settore del pubblico impiego, qui nel testo oggetto di manifestazioni di rabbia a Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all					seguito delle eventuali dichiarazioni da parte di Steve 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil					Barclay.
2 back to their offices in England after the					Burciay.
=
«work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government
workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic
arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from
one 5 union.
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col	Case	Annoal	Suit	A m+	La risposta corretta è la 3. Suit è corretto perché è
	Case	Appeal	Suit	Apt
termine corretto corrispondente al punto 6					una forma idiomatica «to follow suit» che vuol dire «fare la stessa cosa».
Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all
1 departments to step up efforts to force civil
2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted
this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government
workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic
arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could encourage the private area to follow 6 Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col	Restrictions	Pandemic	Situation	Rules	La risposta corretta è la 1. Restrictions è corretto
	. Con Ichons	andennic	Situation	i.u.c.s	The state of the s termine corretto corrispondente al punto 7					perché si riferisce alle misure previste del Piano B («Plan B measures») contro il Covid-19.
Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all
1 departments to step up efforts to force civil
2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place
, , ,
4 to «monitor office use» to bring government
workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic
arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from
one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could encourage the private area to follow 6 The
government announced on Wednesday that it would					!
not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7,					!
known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on January 26.
, 	1	·	1	i .

Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col	Finished	Expired	Ended	Died	La risposta corretta è la 2. Expired è corretto perché termine corretto corrispondente al punto 8					il verbo «to expire» vuol dire «scadere» e si usa in riferimento a un termine di scadenza, qui nel testo il Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all					26 gennaio («January 26»).
1 departments to step up efforts to force civil					8 (
2 back to their offices in England after the
_
«work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government
workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic
arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from
one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could
encourage the private area to follow 6 The
government announced on Wednesday that it would
not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7,
known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on January 26.
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col	Will bring	Brought	To bring	Has brought	La risposta corretta è la 1. Will bring è corretto termine corretto corrispondente al punto 9					perché si riferisce a un'azione futura che dovrà termine correcto corrispondente di punto 3					ancora avvenire, in questo caso la previsione di
Cabinat Office minister Steve Banday has and and all					l · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all		1	1		ottenere dei benefici economici futuri.
1 departments to step up efforts to force civil
2 back to their offices in England after the		1
«work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted		1	1
this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government
workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic
arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from
one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could
encourage the private area to follow 6 The
government announced on Wednesday that it would
not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7
known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on January 26. But it scrapped the working from home guidance immediately. «It is expected that office
workers returning to the office 9 economic benefits for 10 across the country, with sandwich shops and the 11 sector due to see a dramatic increase in footfall», Barclay said.
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col	Businesses	People	Activities	Bodies	La risposta corretta è la 1. Businesses è corretto termine corretto corrispondente al punto 10					perché è più specifico nel contesto, indica le ·					aziende/le imprese specifiche del settore («sandwich Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all					shops and hospitality sector») che trarranno benefici
•		1	1		'
1 departments to step up efforts to force civil		1			dal fatto di ritornare a lavorare in presenza negli
2 back to their offices in England after the		1	1		uffici pubblici.
«work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted		1
this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place		1	1
4 to «monitor office use» to bring government		1
workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic		1	1
arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from		1	1
one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the		1	1
civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could		1	1
-		1	1
encourage the private area to follow 6 The		1	1
government announced on Wednesday that it would		1
not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7,		1	1
known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on		1
January 26. But it scrapped the working from home		1	1
guidance immediately. «It is expected that office		1	1
workers returning to the office 9 economic		1 =		1	1
benefits for 10 across the country, with		1	1
sandwich shops and the 11 sector due to see a		1	1
dramatic increase in footfall», Barclay said.		l	İ
, ,				1

Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col	Housing	Hotel	House	Hospitality	La risposta corretta è la 4. Hospitality è corretto termine corretto corrispondente al punto 11	liousing	riotei	liouse	liospitanty	perché indica il settore specifico che include termine correcto corrispondente ai punto 11					alberghi, ristoranti e altri servizi che trarranno Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all					benefici dal ritorno del lavoro in presenza.
1 departments to step up efforts to force civil					«Housing» si riferisce invece al «settore abitativo,
2 back to their offices in England after the					residenziale, immobiliare, edile».
«work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted					residenziale, irriffobiliare, edile».
this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government
workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic
arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from
one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could
encourage the private area to follow 6 The
government announced on Wednesday that it would
not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7
known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on January 26. But it scrapped the working from home
guidance immediately. «It is expected that office
workers returning to the office 9 economic
benefits for 10 across the country, with
sandwich shops and the 11 sector due to see a dramatic increase in footfall», Barclay said.
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col	Moves	Move	Moving	Movement	La risposta corretta è la 2. Move è corretto perché è ivioves	iviove	iviovirig	iviovement	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
termine corretto corrispondente al punto 12					sostantivo e non solo verbo che indica nel contesto il
Cabinat Office minister Stave Barelov has ordered all					fatto di realizzare quanto affermato prima. Potrebbe Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all					essere tradotto in italiano con «mossa, azione».
1 departments to step up efforts to force civil					«Movement» non è corretto perché vuol dire letteralmente «movimento». «Moves» non è
2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted					corretto perché è plurale e il verbo è al singolare.
this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government
workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic
arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from
one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the
civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could
encourage the private area to follow 6 The
government announced on Wednesday that it would
not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7,
known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on
January 26. But it scrapped the working from home	1			1
guidance immediately. «It is expected that office	1			1
workers returning to the office 9 economic	1			1
benefits for 10 across the country, with	1			1
sandwich shops and the 11 sector due to see a	1			1
dramatic increase in footfall», Barclay said. The	1			1 12 comes as many 13 and organisations have started to allow «hybrid working» whereby 14 carry out their 15 from the office and at home at different times of the week.	l

	1			ı
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col	Company	Families	Family	Companies	La risposta corretta è la 4. Companies è corretto termine corretto corrispondente al punto 13					perché si riferisce a un contesto lavorativo in ambito societario ed è plurale per cui concorda con «many».
Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all
1 departments to step up efforts to force civil
2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted
this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government
workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic
arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from
one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the
civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could
encourage the private area to follow 6 The
government announced on Wednesday that it would
not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7
known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on
-
January 26. But it scrapped the working from home
guidance immediately. «It is expected that office
workers returning to the office 9 economic
benefits for 10 across the country, with
sandwich shops and the 11 sector due to see a dramatic increase in footfall», Barclay said. The 12 comes as many 13 and organisations
have started to allow «hybrid working» whereby 14 carry out their 15 from the office and
at home at different times of the week.
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	La risposta corretta è la 1. Staff è corretto perché
	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	·
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could encourage the private area to follow 6 The	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could encourage the private area to follow 6 The government announced on Wednesday that it would	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could encourage the private area to follow 6 The government announced on Wednesday that it would not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7, known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could encourage the private area to follow 6 The government announced on Wednesday that it would not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7, known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on January 26. But it scrapped the working from home	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could encourage the private area to follow 6 The government announced on Wednesday that it would not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7, known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on January 26. But it scrapped the working from home guidance immediately. «It is expected that office	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could encourage the private area to follow 6 The government announced on Wednesday that it would not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7 known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on January 26. But it scrapped the working from home guidance immediately. «It is expected that office workers returning to the office 9 economic	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could encourage the private area to follow 6 The government announced on Wednesday that it would not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7 known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on January 26. But it scrapped the working from home guidance immediately. «It is expected that office workers returning to the office 9 economic benefits for 10 across the country, with	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could encourage the private area to follow 6 The government announced on Wednesday that it would not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7 known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on January 26. But it scrapped the working from home guidance immediately. «It is expected that office workers returning to the office 9 economic benefits for 10 across the country, with sandwich shops and the 11 sector due to see a	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could encourage the private area to follow 6 The government announced on Wednesday that it would not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7 , known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on January 26. But it scrapped the working from home guidance immediately. «It is expected that office workers returning to the office 9 economic benefits for 10 across the country, with sandwich shops and the 11 sector due to see a dramatic increase in footfall», Barclay said. The	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could encourage the private area to follow 6 The government announced on Wednesday that it would not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7, known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on January 26. But it scrapped the working from home guidance immediately. «It is expected that office workers returning to the office 9 economic benefits for 10 across the country, with sandwich shops and the 11 sector due to see a dramatic increase in footfall», Barclay said. The 12 comes as many 13 and organisations	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could encourage the private area to follow 6 The government announced on Wednesday that it would not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7, known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on January 26. But it scrapped the working from home guidance immediately. «It is expected that office workers returning to the office 9 economic benefits for 10 across the country, with sandwich shops and the 11 sector due to see a dramatic increase in footfall», Barclay said. The 12 comes as many 13 and organisations have started to allow «hybrid working» whereby	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è
Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col termine corretto corrispondente al punto 14 Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all 1 departments to step up efforts to force civil 2 back to their offices in England after the «work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could encourage the private area to follow 6 The government announced on Wednesday that it would not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7, known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on January 26. But it scrapped the working from home guidance immediately. «It is expected that office workers returning to the office 9 economic benefits for 10 across the country, with sandwich shops and the 11 sector due to see a dramatic increase in footfall», Barclay said. The 12 comes as many 13 and organisations	Staff	Staffs	People	Crew	vuol dire «personale» e si riferisce a un ambito lavorativo, inoltre si usa solo al singolare essendo un sostantivo «uncountable». «Crew» si riferisce al personale di bordo su nave oppure aereo e non è

Leggi il seguente brano e completa il testo col	Works	Duties	Obligations	Actions	La risposta corretta è la 2. Duties è corretto perché è termine corretto corrispondente al punto 15					retto dal verbo «to carry out» (svolgere) e si riferisce alle mansioni svolte dai lavoratori. «Work» non si usa Cabinet Office minister Steve Barclay has ordered all					al plurale nel significato di «lavoro», ma solo di
1 departments to step up efforts to force civil					«opere letterarie, artistiche ecc.» e non è questo il
2 back to their offices in England after the					contesto a cui il brano si riferisce.
«work from home» coronavirus guidance was lifted
this week. Barclay is set to tell 3 to put in place 4 to «monitor office use» to bring government
workers back to their «normal, pre-pandemic
arrangements» in a move that prompted anger from
one 5 union. The minister said he wanted the
civil service to «lead the way» in a drive which could
encourage the private area to follow 6 The
government announced on Wednesday that it would
· ·
not seek to renew most of the coronavirus 7,
known as Plan B measures, after they 8 on January 26. But it scrapped the working from home
guidance immediately. «It is expected that office
workers returning to the office 9 economic
benefits for 10 across the country, with
sandwich shops and the 11sector due to see a dramatic increase in footfall», Barclay said. The 12 comes as many 13 and organisations
have started to allow «hybrid working» whereby 14 carry out their 15 from the office and
at home at different times of the week.
Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda:	Give	Grant	Supply	Supply	La risposta corretta è la 4. Supply employees with «Cosa chiederà lo Stato della California alle	employees	employees	employees	employees	additional 2 weeks for illness è corretto perché si società?»	more than 2	only 2 weeks	with 2 weeks	with	riferisce al fatto che i lavoratori possono usufruire di weeks for	for holidays	for holidays	additional 2	un permesso per malattia («sick leave»), in questo
California will require businesses to provide workers	holidays	,	,	weeks for	caso di due ulteriori settimane.
who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are	•			illness caring for infected family members, with as much as
two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom
and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement
would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021
that expired at the end of September. It was sought
by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but	.
employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement	· I
into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees.
The bill would also restore some business tax credits
to help companies absorb the cost of the additional
paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline
workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health
of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses
and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom] said in a joint statement with the president pro tem o	†
the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that
lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said.		1	l	Ì	1 state and to battle inisimormation, they said.

	la	h	b :	le
Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda:		Underline the		Strengthen	La risposta corretta è la 1. Restore the benefit è
«Cosa prevede l'accordo?»	benefit	benefit	benefit	the benefit	corretto perché vuol dire «to reinstate» ossia «ritornare alle condizioni/alle funzioni originali», «to California will require businesses to provide workers					underline» vuol dire «sottolineare», «to repair» vuol who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are					dire «riparare» e «to strengthen» vuol dire caring for infected family members, with as much as					«rafforzare».
two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom
and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement
would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021
that expired at the end of September. It was sought
by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but
employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be
prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature
is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement
into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement
would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees.
The bill would also restore some business tax credits
to help companies absorb the cost of the additional
paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline
workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health
of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses
and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom
said in a joint statement with the president pro tem o	f
the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that
lawmakers «will continue to work to address
additional needs of small businesses through the
budget». The agreement also calls for funding to
bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said.
-
l aggi il bugua a viguandi alla saguanta damanda.	California's	California's	California's	California's	La risposta corretta à la 4 California/a logislativa Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda:	California's	California's	California's	California's	La risposta corretta è la 4. California's legislative
Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: «Cosa si intende per state legislature ?»	California's legislature	California's legislation	California's laws	legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni
«Cosa si intende per state legislature ?»					assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers				legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are				legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as				legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a				legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom				legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement				legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021				legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement				legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees.	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem o	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem o the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem o the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem o the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem o the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem o the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,
«Cosa si intende per state legislature?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem o the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to	legislature			legislative	assembly è corretto perché negli Stati Uniti ogni Stato ha il proprio Parlamento che si chiama «legislative assembly» ossia «assemblea legislativa»,

Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda:	To speed up	To speed up	To canalize	To guide the	La risposta corretta è la 2. To speed up the progress «Qual è il significato di fast-track a bill nel testo?»			the content of	_	of the draft law è corretto perché «draft-law» è of the law		the bill	•	sinonimo di «bill» che vuol dire «bozza, disegno di California will require businesses to provide workers	0	law			legge» ed è presentato all'assemblea legislativa per who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are					essere approvato e diventare successivamente legge.
caring for infected family members, with as much as					Inoltre il verbo «to speed up» è sinonimo di «fast-
two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a					track» che vuol dire «accelerare», mentre il verbo deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom					«to canalize» vuol dire «incanalare» e «to guide» and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement					vuol dire «guidare».
would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021
that expired at the end of September. It was sought
by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but
employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be
prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature
is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement
into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement
would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees.
The bill would also restore some business tax credits
to help companies absorb the cost of the additional
paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline	1
workers with Covid and providing support for	1
California businesses, we can help protect the health
of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses	1
and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom	1
said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of	-
the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the
·
Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that
lawmakers «will continue to work to address
additional needs of small businesses through the
budget». The agreement also calls for funding to
bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said.
Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: «Se	Yes, all the	Yes, but only		-	La risposta corretta è la 2. Yes, but only businesses
Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: «Se the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di	Yes, all the businesses in	businesses	businesses	businesses	with a certain number of employees è corretto businesses	businesses with less than	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di	businesses in	businesses	businesses with 25	businesses with less than	with a certain number of employees è corretto
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di	businesses in	businesses with a certain	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?»	businesses in	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as	businesses in	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are	businesses in	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as	businesses in	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a	businesses in	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement	businesses in	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021	businesses in	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees.	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore
the bill verrà approvato, riguarderà tutti i datori di lavoro?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to	businesses in the state	businesses with a certain number of	businesses with 25	businesses with less than 25 workers	with a certain number of employees è corretto perché le società con più di 25 impiegati sono coinvolte («companies with more than 25 employees are involved»), non con esattamente 25 impiegati oppure meno di 25, così come neanche tutte le aziende in assoluto. «A certain number» ossia un certo numero nel testo indica un numero maggiore

Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: «Come the bill aiuterebbe economicamente le	Financing them	Reducing taxes	Making loans	Paying the sick days	La risposta corretta è la 2. Reducing taxes è corretto perché «tax credits» significa «a direct reduction in società?»					tax liability», ossia una riduzione del credito d'imposta.
California will require businesses to provide workers					a imposta.
who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom
and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement
would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021
that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature
is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement
into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees.
The bill would also restore some business tax credits
to help companies absorb the cost of the additional
paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline
workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses
and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom
said in a joint statement with the president pro tem o	f
the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the
budget». The agreement also calls for funding to
bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda:	To increase	To flourish	To perish	To run risks	La risposta corretta è la 2. To flourish è corretto «Qual è il significato di to thrive nel testo?»	To mercuse	TO HOURSH	ro perisii		perché «to thrive» vuol dire «to grow vigorously; to California will require businesses to provide workers					flourish», ossia «crescere vigorosamente, prosperare». «To increase» vuol dire «aumentare» e
who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are					non è corretto perché qui nella frase manca il caring for infected family members, with as much as					complemento oggetto. «To perish» vuol dire two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a					«perire», «to run risks» vuol dire «correre rischi».
deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement
would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021
that expired at the end of September. It was sought
by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature
is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement
into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement
would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits
to help companies absorb the cost of the additional
paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline
workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of	F
the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to
bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said.

Land il buono a viena udi alla cassonta dessanda.	The s	Tl	The former	The second second	La vienanta agruptta à la 3. Tha taurangua Dungidant Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda:	The	The		_ «Chi è Tony Atkins?»	President of		President of	President of	of the Senate è corretto perché «pro tem» sta per the Senate		the Senate	the Senate	«pro tempore», che si usa ugualmente in italiano per California will require businesses to provide workers		the Senate			indicare «temporaneamente». «Former» vuol dire who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are					«ex», «recurring» vuol dire «ricorrente».
caring for infected family members, with as much as
two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom
and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement
would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021
that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but 1: =
employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be
prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature
is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement
into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement
would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees.
The bill would also restore some business tax credits
to help companies absorb the cost of the additional	1
paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline	1
workers with Covid and providing support for	1
California businesses, we can help protect the health
·
of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses
and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom
said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of
the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that
lawmakers «will continue to work to address
additional needs of small businesses through the
budget». The agreement also calls for funding to
bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said.
Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: «La	No	Yes	Partially	Ongoing	La risposta corretta è la 4. Ongoing è corretto perché
	110	103	arciany	Oligoling
questione è definitivamente risolta?»		1 63	a di cidii y	Oligoling	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno questione è definitivamente risolta?»			. artiany	Oligonig	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers		103	r di cidiliy	Oligoliig	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no»
questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are		res	. dradily	Oligoliig	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla
questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as		, cs	. artiumy	Oligoling	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no»
questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are		, 63	. artially	Oligoling	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è
questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as			, and any	Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva
questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a			, and any	Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte.
questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement			. Gradiny	Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021			. Gradiny	Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought			. Gradiny	Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but			. Gradiny	Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be			. Gradiny	Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature			. Gradiny	Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
questione è definitivamente risolta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees.				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma
California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to				Ongoing	Mr. Newsom, Toni Atkins e Anthony Rendon hanno dichiarato di continuare a voler lavorare sulla questione («will continue to work»). «Yes» e «no» non sono corretti perché indicano che la questione è risolta e chiusa, in maniera negativa oppure positiva. «Partially» indica che è risolta solamente in parte. Nel brano non viene specificato nulla di preciso ma

California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the consonative, or are caring for infected family members, with as much is two weeks of supplemental paid sick below, under a docal members with as much is two weeks of supplemental paid sick below, under a docal members which are more provided by the state in 2014 by organized allows the Desirable workers who is recovered by the state in 2014 by organized allows for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to furn the agreement mould apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sect. 30 ct companies with more than 25 employees, to help companies absorb the cort of the additional poid time of the system of the state in 2014 by organized allows, with more than 25 employees, to help companies absorb the cort of the additional poid time of it, by cotteding six leven or formulating workers with Cord and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are dale to strives. Mr. Rewsom said in a jaint statement with the president pro term of the State Sensels. The Allison, and the speaked of the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to budster companies used that grant and the state and to battle mistificemation, they said. Laggil brane or Figure all assessment demandars equal to the provided workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much is a compliant of the state and to battle mistificemation, they said. California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with a sum the state and to battle mistificematic particles and the state and to battle mistificematic particles and the state and to state the state of the state and the state and to state the state of the state and the state and to state the state of the state and the state and to state the state of the state and the	Loggi il brano o ricpondi alla coguento domanda:	The party's	A logiclativo	A governor	A law maker	la richasta corretta à la 2. A governor à corrette
California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the comovivus, or are carring from the comovivus of the state of september of the state of the state of september of the	Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda:	The party's	_	A governor	A law maker	La risposta corretta è la 3. A governor è corretto Ediffornia will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a fast announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would epitiative leaders in the state. The agreement would epitiative leaders for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track abili to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies swith more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits on help companies swith more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits on help companies swith more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits on help companies swith more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits on help companies swith cover that and the same	«Cni e Gavin Newsom?»	leader	leader			i i who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are coving for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by 60°. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that copied at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omitrora neinstand sugges, but supplemental paid sick leave, under a separate suggest but supplemental paid sick leaves and the supplemental paid sick leaves and the supplemental paid sick leaves and the supplemental paid sick leaves, under a suggest but supplemental paid sick leaves and the supplemental paid sick leaves and the supplemental paid sick leaves and sick leaves and supplemental paid sick lea						(Governatore).
caring for infected family members, with as muth a byto waseks of supplemental paid sick laws, under a food announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that sprind at the end of September. Two sought by organized labor as the Omiroon end to supple but the sprind at the end of September. Two sought by organized labor as the Omiroon end to supplement in the state legislature is espected to fast-track ability to un the agreement into low. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companie with more than 125 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies with more than 125 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies with more than 125 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies abort the cost of the additional paid time off. e89 exteedings click leave to fronting and cure company as able to thrives. Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the Seate Sensate. Orn Alteria, and the speaker of the Rasembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that anawakers will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the businesses to fronting the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Later and the state shall be continued to the state and to battle misinformation. They added that anawakers will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are a continued to the state and to battle misinformation. They added that any and the state and to battle misinformation, they said the provide the state in 2021 that appried at the agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that appried at the additional pa
Now weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstrate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that cepired at the end of Spetiment, it was sought by organized labor as the Omitron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saving the benefit would be prohibilitive expensive for them. The state legislature into law, if it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absence between lan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies subsorb the cost of the additional paid time off, 8ty stending sick leave to frontine workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuing that businesses and our economy are able to thrives. Mr. Newsom and the state Senate, Tom Atkins, and the speaker of the kasenbly, atthings medium and the state Senate, Tom Atkins, and the speaker of the kasenbly, atthings medium and the state Senate. The agreement also calls for funding to botter companies testing and vacarization in the State and to battle misinformation, they said. Lalifornia will require businesses to provide workers who are receivering from the coronavity, or are saring for infected family members, with as moth as how weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a data announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the State. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that according to the state in 2021 that according the probability of the probability of the probability of the probability of the destination and the probability of the probability of the probability of the probability of the destination and the probability of the destination and the probability of the destination and the pro	· · seal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislature leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a bunefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September It was sought by organized abor as the Omirron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track all lift to urth agreement not law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement not law, if it is approved, the paid leave requirement not law, if it is approved, the paid leave requirement not law, if it is approved, the paid leave requirement not law, if it is abort the cost of the additional paid time off. 49y extending sick leave to frontille workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrives, Mr. Newsom paid in a joint statement with the president pro ten of the State Senate, Ton Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They dided that awmakers will continue to work to additional needs of small businesses through the bottlere organization and the state of the State Senate, Ton Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly without the ministromation in the state and to battle ministromation, they said. Leggi If brane or rispondial las segmente domands: a segment the state of the additional paid time off. 49y extending ski leave to frontille workers who coveds of a upproved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between lan. I and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies which more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax	, , and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would eninistate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized abors as the Omicron variants surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively exposite for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement mould apply to eligible absences between Jan. Jand Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies abors the cost of the additional variance of the state sense, include the state of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawwardsers will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the consultative consulta would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-rack a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Ian. I and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. 40 extending sick leave to frontine workers with Cowl and providing support for California business, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrives, Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president prior the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to holder a supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gox. Gwin hewsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would apply to eligible absences between Ian. I and septimate the absorbance of the state is a supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gox. Gwin hewsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would apply to eligible absences between Ian. I and sept. 30 at companies with the president prior to the state in the state legislature is expected to fist-track a bill to turn the agreement would apply to eligible absences between Ian. I and sept. 30 at companies with the president prior to the state legislature is expected to fist-track a bill to turn the agreement would apply to eligible absences between Ian. I and sept. 30 at companies with continue to work to address and our economy are able to thrives, which are the state legislature is expected to fist-track a bill to turn the agreement and our economy are able to thrives, Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro term of the State Sentes, Contak that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized abors as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, spring the benefit would be prohibitively exposive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement inclination of the state is the state is specified to the state is specified as the specified as the state is specified as the state is specified as the specified as	_
by organized abor as the Omicron variont surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off -8,9 extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrives, Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Smarks, Toni Aktins, and the Speaker of the Assembla-furthory fendor. They added that state of the state smarks of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to botsler cornovins testing and vaccinetation in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Quanter persone hanno rilasciato la dichlarazione conjunta? California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the cornoavirus, or are carried from the state. The agreement would apply to eligible absences between fan. 1 and September. It was sought by organized ablose a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized ablose as benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized ablose a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized ablose a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the en	1 ' '
employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to the provided that leave the control of the state Senate, Toni Aktins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that leaven also also for funding to bootster conswirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are carried to state the provided of the coronavirus, or are carried to state the state. The agreement also delay the state in 2021 that expired at the end of Spitchment. It was sought to the coronavirus, or are carried to state that also the state and the provided that also the state and the state. The agreement sto law, if it is approved, the pati leave requirement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of Spitchment. It was sought by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of Spitchment and the provided the prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement sto law, if it is approved, the pati leave requirement would reinstate a benefit assed by extending sick leave to frontline workers with Could and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses additional n sorbibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional jaid time off. 89 extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses additional paid to modern and a service of the state Senare, Toni Aktins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawarwakers well continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi IB brano e rispondial all sequente domanda: exquante persone hannor illasciato la dichiarazione congiunta? California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and all egislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the and of September It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed, it, asying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would reinstate a benefit passed by the estate in 2021 the paid to a state of the additional jaid time off. 89 extending sick leave, under a deal announced on responsible and the service of the additional jaid time off. 89 extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and provi	, , is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement incl law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. 489 extending sick leave to frontiline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrives, Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro ten of the State Senate, Toni Aktins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement as a calls for funding to businesses through the budgets. The agreement additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement additional needs of small businesses through the state and the containing that the state is a state of the additional paid time off. 49 extending sick leave through the containing the state and the containing that businesses and containing the state and the containing that businesses and containing the state sent of the additional paid time off. 49 extending sick leave to frontiline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesse into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absence between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would allow restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. 46 yet sending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive, Mr. Nevsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers with continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi if brane e rispondi alla seguente domanda: "Quante persone hannor rilasciato la dichiarazione conglunta?" California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saving the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track abili to run the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that despired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saving the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track abili to turn the agreement also calls keave to f	, , , would apply to eligible absences between Ian. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. *8y extending sick leave to frontiline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive. Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro to tem of the State Senate. Toni Alkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to bolster connewing testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggil I brano e rispond alla seguente domanda: recommended the seguence of the segue	·
Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. 45 yet hending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrives, Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president prote of the State Senate. Tonl Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers swill continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement about the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggli Ibrano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: Regil
The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontiline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive. Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president prote mo of the State Senate, Toni Alkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They add. Leggi II brano e rispondi alia seguente domands: a standard to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi II brano e rispondi alia seguente domands: a standard to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi II brano e rispondi alia seguente domands: a standard to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi II brano e rispondi alia seguente domands: a standard to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi II brano e rispondi alia seguente domands: a standard to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi II brano e rispondi alia seguente domands: a standard to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi II brano e rispondi alia seguente domands: a standard to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi II brano e rispondi alia seguente domands: a standard to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi II brano e rispondi alia seguente domands: a standard to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi II brano e rispondi alia seguente domands: a standard to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi II brano e rispondi alia seguente domands: a standard to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi II brano e rispondi alia seguente domands: a standard to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi II brano e rispondi alia seguente domands: a standard to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi II brano e rispondi alia seguente domands: a standard to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi II brano e rispondi alia seguente domands: a standard to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi II brano e rispondi alia seguente domands: a standard to batt is help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off, set extending sick leave to frontilline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thirvey, Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Ton Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthory Rendon. They added that lawmakers swill continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement abso calls for funding to botster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggil Ibrano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: «Quante persone hanno rilasciato la dichiarazione conglunta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are taring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired a three and of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omitron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement mould apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. Ag vetending sick leave to frontiline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive, Mr. Newsom aid in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that hawmakers will continue to work to addr	' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' ' pald time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of or ur work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrives, Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro ten of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawnakers will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Laggi if brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: «Quante persone hanno rilasciato la dichiarazione congiunta?» Two people Three people Four people Four people and the president of the people of the people and the president of the people of the people and the people of the peo workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro ten of the State Senate, Tond Alkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to bolster cornavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Regil Ibrano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: "Quante persone hanno rilasciato la dichiarazione congiunta?"  California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of Septembert. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers copposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also neuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president protem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that awmakers swill continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: requarte for the common service of the com	F =]
of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive, Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: "Quante persone hanno rilasciato la dichiarazione congiunta?" Two people and the propose of]
and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom stadi in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendom. They added that lawmakers swill continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggil brane or rispondi alla sequente domanda: wQuante persone hanno rilasciato la dichiarazione conglunta? California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gw. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saving the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law, if it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apoly to legible absences between lan. I and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employes. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off, «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuing that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendom. They added that leaves the provided that leaves the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendom. They added that leaves the provided that leaves the provided that leaves the provided that leaves the provided that leaves t] said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Aktins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers swill continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to boster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggl Il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: "Two people "Three people Four people "Three people on the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggl Il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: "Quante persone hanno rilasciato la dichiarazione congiunta?" California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized alson as the Ornicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be proribitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absence between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrives, Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Akkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers ewill continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through] the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers swill continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: "two people congunta?" California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are carring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saving the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track abili to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to legible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrives, Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers exilt continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to	· · Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers well continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to boster cornavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggil brano e rispondial las seguente domanda: "Two people "Four people "Fou	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · lawmakers swill continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi ib rano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: "Quante persone hanno rilasciato la dichiarazione congiunta?" California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gow. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. Aley extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers swill continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to	- I bidditional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi Il brano er ispondi alla seguente domanda: «Quante persone hanno rilasciato la dichiarazione conglunta?» California will require businesses to provide workers whoh are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov, Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omitorno variants targed, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Ian. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off, 489 extending sick leave to fronthlie workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawnakers exwill continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgeto. The agreement also calls for funding to budget». The agreement also calls for funding to bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggil Ibrano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: "Quante persone hanno rilasciato la dichiarazione congiunta?" California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement mould apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off, sely extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that awmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgeto. The gargement also calls for funding to bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: «Quante persone hanno rilasciato la dichiarazione congiunta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. Threy added that awmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgetby. The agreement also calls for funding to	1
tate and to battle misinformation, they said. Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: «Quante persone hanno rilasciato la dichiarazione congiunta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off, «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive, Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to	_ = = =
Three people Four people Four people (Quarte persone hanno rilasciato la dichiarazione congiunta?) California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental padi sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgeto. The agreement also calls for funding to	=
Quante persone hanno rilasciato la dichiarazione congiunta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced or Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be proribibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgeto. The agreement also calls for funding to		Two poople	Three needs	Four poople	Five needle	La richasta corretta à la 2. Three pagale à corrette
California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to		i wo people	Tillee people	i oui people	i ive people
California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrives, Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·					r =
who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni dktins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers ewill continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to	congrunta."					are persone. Newsoni, Atkins, hendon.
who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni dktins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers ewill continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to	California will require businesses to provide workers caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgets. The agreement also calls for funding to	· two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budgetw. The agreement also calls for funding to deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to	, , and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to
by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to	, ,
employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to	La transfer to the second of t prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to	-] would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to	·]
Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to
The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to	· · · · · · =
to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to	· ·
California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to	F =
of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to	= Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to	■ lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to budget». The agreement also calls for funding to additional needs of small businesses through the
bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the]
]
state and to battle misinformation, they said.	state and to battle misinformation, they said.

				0 1 1
Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda:	Yes	No	-	-	La risposta corretta è la 3. Not given information è
«Nel patto è incluso il finanziamento di dosi extra di			information	certain	corretto perché nel testo non vi è nessun riferimento vaccino anti-Covid?»				circumstances	al finanziamento per somministrare dosi extra di vaccino anti-Covid 19. Nella frase «the agreement California will require businesses to provide workers					also calls for funding to bolster coronavirus testing who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are					and vaccination in the state» il verbo «to bolster» caring for infected family members, with as much as					vuol dire «aumentare fortemente» e si riferisce alla two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a					somministrazione del vaccino in generale e non a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom					dosi extra. dosi extra.
and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement
would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021
that expired at the end of September. It was sought
by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but
employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be
prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature
, ,
is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement
into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement
would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees.
The bill would also restore some business tax credits
]
to help companies absorb the cost of the additional	1
paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline	1
workers with Covid and providing support for	1
California businesses, we can help protect the health	1
of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses] 1
and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom	1
said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of
the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that
lawmakers «will continue to work to address
additional needs of small businesses through the
_
budget». The agreement also calls for funding to
bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said.
Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda:	Too difficult	Тоо	Too riskv	Тоо	La risposta corretta è la 4. Too exorbitant è corretto
Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda:	Too difficult		Too risky		La risposta corretta è la 4. Too exorbitant è corretto
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato		Too unreasonable	-	Too exorbitant	perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso»
_ == · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?»			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees.			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,
«Perché le società inizialmente non hanno accettato la proposta?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to			-		perché «exorbitant» significa «molto costoso» («prohibitively expensive»). «Risky» vuol dire «rischioso», «difficult» vuol dire «difficile»,

Land Office and American Reality and a second and according	D C		Haraltin areas	n 4:1:1	la danata anno 11 a 11 a 11 a 11 a 11 a 11 a 11
Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda:	Professionals			Military	La risposta corretta è la 3. Health-care workers è
«Chi sono i front-line workers nel testo?»			workers		corretto perché «frontline» vuol dire «prima linea»e nel testo si riferisce a coloro che hanno combattuto il California will require businesses to provide workers					Covid-19 in prima linea durante l'emergenza, ossia il who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are					personale sanitario («health-care workers»).
caring for infected family members, with as much as					,
, ,
two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom
and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement
would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021
that expired at the end of September. It was sought
by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but
employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be
prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature
,
is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement
into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement
would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees.
The bill would also restore some business tax credits
to help companies absorb the cost of the additional
paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline
· -
workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health
of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses
and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom
said in a joint statement with the president pro tem o	f
the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that
lawmakers «will continue to work to address
additional needs of small businesses through the
budget». The agreement also calls for funding to
bolster coronavirus testing and vaccination in the state and to battle misinformation, they said.
Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda:	The leader	The	The	The presiding	l a risposta corretta è la 4. The presiding officer è
Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda:	The leader	_			La risposta corretta è la 4. The presiding officer è
Leggi il brano e rispondi alla seguente domanda: «Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembl y?»	The leader		The representative		corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly? »	The leader				corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly? » California will require businesses to provide workers	The leader				corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly? »	The leader				corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly? » California will require businesses to provide workers	The leader			officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as	The leader			officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a	The leader			officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly ?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom	The leader			officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly? » California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement	The leader			officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly? » California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021	The leader			officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly? » California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees.				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees.				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses.				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem o				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem o				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem o the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem o the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the budget». The agreement also calls for funding to				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece
«Cosa si intende per speaker of the Assembly?» California will require businesses to provide workers who are recovering from the coronavirus, or are caring for infected family members, with as much as two weeks of supplemental paid sick leave, under a deal announced on Tuesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom and legislative leaders in the state. The agreement would reinstate a benefit passed by the state in 2021 that expired at the end of September. It was sought by organized labor as the Omicron variant surged, but employers opposed it, saying the benefit would be prohibitively expensive for them. The state legislature is expected to fast-track a bill to turn the agreement into law. If it is approved, the paid leave requirement would apply to eligible absences between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30 at companies with more than 25 employees. The bill would also restore some business tax credits to help companies absorb the cost of the additional paid time off. «By extending sick leave to frontline workers with Covid and providing support for California businesses, we can help protect the health of our work force, while also ensuring that businesses and our economy are able to thrive», Mr. Newsom said in a joint statement with the president pro tem of the State Senate, Toni Atkins, and the speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon. They added that lawmakers «will continue to work to address additional needs of small businesses through the				officer	corretto perché «the speaker» è colui che presiede la Camera dei Deputati sia nel Regno Unito (House of Common) sia negli Stati Uniti (House of Representatives), o qualsiasi altra assemblea legislativa. «Spokeperson» vuol dire invece